TYPES OF MAINTENANCE REQUIRED

2.1.1. The Department seeks to implement a scheduled, preventative and corrective maintenance contract for the abovementioned electronic security systems for a period of 24 months. Maintenance will be costed based on travelling, cost per hour rate and material used. Maintenance is categorized and includes the following:

- i. Preventative maintenance-Planned maintenance of a system carried out on a scheduled basis.
 - a. Recommended frequency of maintenance
 - A preventative maintenance visit allows the technician to carry out a complete audit / check of the various electronic surveillance systems, the documentation associated with the systems, and the training requirements of users.
 - The CCTV surveillance and various security systems should receive at least two preventative maintenance visits each year. However, additional maintenance visits may be required depending on the environmental conditions, and the need to change 'perishable items' e.g. cassettes, batteries etc.
 - Note: These preventative maintenance visits are additional to any corrective maintenance visits which may be required and described in the following section.
 - b. Preventative maintenance report
 - The technician should complete a maintenance report whilst carrying out preventative maintenance on the various electronic security systems.
 - The report should list any deviations of the system from the fully functional state, and should list relevant comments about the system e.g. Camera 1 replacement dome cover required at next visit.
 - The report will help the Department to monitor the reliability of the electronic security systems to ensure the systems meet the original purpose and will assist with the budgeting of any replacement parts required in the future.
 - A copy of the report should be made available to the Department on completion of the maintenance.
- ii. Corrective maintenance - Emergency maintenance of a system or components, or part thereof, carried out in response to the development of a fault. Replacement of any defective components or hardware identified during conducting maintenance must be recorded in the maintenance report and submitted with a quotation for the consideration of the Department for replacement of such system or component to fully operational status. Replacement of any system or component may only be conducted with the approval of the Department. The Department reserves the right to procure the equipment or system from any service provider as per the Supply Chain Management protocols and request the appointed service provider conducting maintenance to install such during the next quarterly maintenance.

a. Response time

- Corrective maintenance calls are the emergency maintenance of the systems, or part thereof, carried out in response to the development of a fault. Suitable communication should be used to ensure the Department can be informed of expected arrival times to site.
- Recommended response times of coverage parameters specific to the maintenance service(s) covered are as follows:
- The Service Provider will respond to service-related incidents and/or requests submitted by the User within the following time frames:
 - 0-12 hours (during business hours) for issues classified as High priority.
 - 0-24 hours (during after-hours) for issues classified as High priority.
 - Within 48 hours for issues classified as Medium priority.
 - Within 5 working days for issues classified as Low priority.
- Telephone Support : Office Hours: 07:30 A.M. to 16:30 P.M. Monday – Friday
 - Calls should be made to service provider's Telephone Numbers during office hours Monday to Friday and best efforts should be made to answer / action the calls. Any unanswered calls should be diverted to the Mobile Phone Numbers provided by the Service Provider.
- Mobile Phone Support : 24 Hours: 00:00 A.M to 24:00 P.M. Monday – Sunday
 - Calls should be made to mobile Phone Numbers 24hrs per day Monday to Sunday and best efforts should be made to answer / action the call.

- Note: Response times will be a feature of the contract / maintenance agreement.

b. Corrective maintenance report

- On completion of corrective maintenance, the technician should complete a maintenance report, job card and a report on findings and actions to the Department.

iii. Customer and user maintenance - Basic maintenance/fault reporting tasks, as detailed by the maintenance company, carried out by the system manager and / or system user.

a. General

- Whilst it is recognized this practice should not place requirements on the customer, it is important that the customer is aware of the importance to provide user maintenance to the CCTV System.

- The customer should also conduct a periodic review of the CCTV system's effectiveness to ensure it is still doing what it is intended to do.
- The maintenance company should consider the following recommendations for inclusion in any agreement with the customer.

b. Customer

- The customer / user should ensure all fault reporting on the CCTV system is undertaken in a methodical and timely manner. The following should be considered:
 - Ensure all users are trained on a regular basis in the actions to take in the event of a system fault.
 - Note: Annual training of users is recommended.
 - Ensure faults are reported as soon as possible after they are discovered, and that details are entered in a fault reporting book.
 - Inspect the fault reporting book weekly to ensure all faults are dealt with efficiently and effectively.
 - Decide if the fault can be corrected in-house or whether the technician is required.
 - Liaise with the maintenance company when a technician is required.
 - Ensure the technician has access to site and equipment at an agreed time and date.
 - After repair has been carried out, sign and keep a copy of the corrective maintenance report for the CCTV system file.
 - Sign off the work from the fault reporting book.

c. CCTV system user

➤ Checks to be carried out during each shift

The system user should normally be the first to notice a fault with the CCTV system. To ensure the CCTV system operates effectively the user should:

- Check the fault log at the start of a shift to see if there are any outstanding faults on the system.
- Check the operation of the system at the start of a shift and report any faults to the Center Manager. In addition, details of the fault should be recorded and appropriate action taken.
- If the fault is not cleared during the user's shift, the next shift should be informed of the fault and what corrective measures, if any, have been actioned.

➤ Additional checks carried out by the system user

- Clean the monitor screens weekly.
- Clean the control surfaces weekly.
- Ensure recording facilities are operating correctly (agreed between the user and maintenance company).
- Clean computer air vents monthly.
- Carry out any other functions recommended by the maintenance company.

d. Remote maintenance

- With the advent of technology, it is likely that some support may be given to the user remotely. This may take the form of remote diagnostics / support or remote maintenance, be it corrective and / or preventative. Whilst these have some significant advantages, such as limited system down-time and perhaps call-out costs, it is not without its potential vulnerabilities such as network security and data protection issues which should be a key consideration.
- There will be an agreement in place for the CCTV system to cover the following:
 - Agreement on what level(s) of access / permissions is granted to the maintenance company to log onto the site CCTV system. This should include, if it is in response to an incident, a request from the user or if it is part of a preventative maintenance agreement.
 - A response plan that specifies what action to take when certain types of event occur. For example, loss of communication with the site control equipment isolation of an alarm, switch off / on ancillary equipment, reset or restart the CCTV system or notify nominated persons.
 - There should always be an audit trail for remote user activity.

e. Documentation

- The following documentation is required to be held by the maintenance company providing maintenance to the CCTV system:
 - CCTV system "as fitted" specification
 - Handover check list/completion certificate
 - Maintenance Agreement
 - Preventative Maintenance Report
 - Corrective Maintenance Report
 - Installed equipment manuals

f. Perishable items

- The maintenance company should hold a record of all components with limited lifetime, and components should be replaced when required. Consideration should also be given for any components held by the customer, which may also be subject to similar limits.
